JUDGE LANDIS LEAVES THE U. S. COURT

Baseball Wins Famous
Jurist from Federal Judgeship

WORK IS EXCESSIVE

Not Enough Hours in Day for All His Activities, He Says

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Kenesaw Mountain Landis today resigned as United States district judge in order to give all of his attention to his work as commissioner for organized baseball. Landis has also been in ill health for some time. Besides his duties as federal judge and baseball commissioner, he acted as arbitrator in Chicago's building trades disputes and participated in other such activities.

Although the judge did not say so, it was understood that all of the duties were proving too heavy a burden for his physical constitution. He said: "There are not enough hours in the day for all these activities. Therefore I have forwarded my resignation to the president, effective March 1."

Landis was the most widely known federal district court jurist in the country. Landis first attracted wide attention when he fined the Standard Oil company $29,000.00. The fine, the largest ever imposed by any court of justice.

C. E. BANQUET IS WELL ATTENDED

Visitors Gather From All Parts of Verdugo
District

The union Christian Endeavor banquet was held Friday night at the Glendale Presbyterian church with visitors from Eagle Rock, Tujunga, Sunland, Burbank and Glendale, with a total number of 130 present. There were about 20 percent from Occidental College and they added much to the jollity of the occasion with their school yells. There were talks from the county officers and from the Hollywood boosters.

The long tables were very attractive with red heart plate cards and the white Christian Endeavor monograms tied on with red ribbon. The first part of the program was a "heart" welcome by the president, Carol Duncan. "Our Hearts and Service," the theme of the rally to be held tomorrow, Sunday afternoon, from 2:30 to 6:15 was made by Miss Ethel Preston. "Our Hearts are Four-Square" was then given, at which time announcement was made that the "Four-Square" contest which has been going on for four months, was finished February 15 and according to the data in the hands of the manager, the Senior B society of the Glendale Presbyterian church stands first in the Glendale district. The standing of the Glendale district will not be known until the Hollywood convention, March 17 to 20.

The "Busy Bee" of the Glendale Presbyterian church put on a jolly little skit which showed how one young lady was able to go to the convention through the aid of new household appliances. At first she thought it would be impossible to go, but an agent came along with several new appliances for washing, ironing, etc., and thus made it possible. The demonstration was a clever one and was greatly enjoyed.

The next number on the program was a little talk by Glen Moore, who is county intermediate superintendent. Mr. Austin of Hollywood then extended an invitation to all to come to the convention (Continued on page 3)

MISS MCCORMICK TO WED

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Miss Matilda McCormick, 16-year-old granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, today arranged for passage to Europe in May, tending to confirm reports she will marry Max Oser, Zurich riding master, three times her age.

The girl will be accompanied on the return trip by Miss Julia Mangold, who was Oser's bookkeeper and who came to his country with Miss McCormick last fall.

Miss Matilda played indoor golf at the old Cyrus McCormick home on Chicago's Gold Coast today while awaiting the arrival of her father, Harold F. McCormick, and her sister, Muriel, from New York. She expected them yesterday and was quite disappointed when she heard they had postponed leaving New York for a day. They will arrive tonight.

STEAL $10,000 IN JEWELRY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Two negro bandits threw a brick through the window of a jewelry store here today, seized $10,000 worth of gems.

Happiness Is Birth Right of People Says James W. Foley

Happiness is the birth of people. Unhappiness is tragedy. When you want to do the biggest thing you ever did, make somebody happy.

This is the philosophy of life that James W. Foley sets forth tonight in the "Listening Post." He concludes his article with these words, "You can't do any work of enrichment or stimulation or encouraging without enriching and stimulating and encouraging yourself."

Henry James in his comment on the day's news says that Los Angeles seems destined to be one of the largest cities in the United States. He alludes to the fact that business conditions in this community have kept close to normal and that many individuals have arrived from the East with small means and roamed the streets looking for employment.

Under these circumstances, Mr. James does not think that throwing shivering and hungry men into jail tards the vagrancy and is anything to boast about.

Dr. Frank Crane in his article on the Editorial page writes about old people.

Della Stewart and John Pilgrim each have feature articles, and there are five able editorials presented for your consideration. Altogether, it is a very splendid editorial page.

TATTOOED PAUL MAKES NO HIT WITH POLICE

Collecting for "Church of God" Movement is Abruptly Halted

Paul A. Schomberg of Seattle, Wash., the latest panhandler to visit Glendale. He was reading a tract here on the "Church of God" movement. He had the words "Church of God" tattooed on his hand as a good means of gathering in the coin.

Schomberg's stay in Glendale was not an altogether peaceful one. His presence was reported to the police, who gave him "so much time" to leave town—which he did.

BAR SPOONERS
Spooners are warned to hereafter keep away from the Doran street school when they want to do their spooning. A complaint had been sent to the police department by Miss Lois Hatch, principal of the school, to the effect that altogether too much billing and cooing has been going on on the steps of this house of learning. Police authorities have taken steps to see that nothing further along this line takes place.

OPPOSITION TO BONUS NOW SHOWS

Ohio Congressmen Start
Movement to Delay
Legislation

ACTION IN JUNE

Midwest Representatives
Trail Opposition After Understanding

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The first faint flickering of a sentiment for postponement of soldier bonus legislation until early summer appeared in congress today.

It had its inception among mid-western congressmen, particularly the Ohio group, though that had not yet reached the stage where it could be called a "general movement" for postponement.

The Ohio lower house members were the chief proponents of the postponement idea. They, or at least two-thirds of them, favored dropping the agitation now, with the definite understanding that it should be taken up again about June.

The ways and means republicans meantime were taking a day off from their deliberations as to how to raise funds for a bonus. The admitted purpose of this was to give the country a chance to "re-act" on the proposition of levying a sales tax, dropping the cash bonus payments, or postponing the whole scheme to a more favorable time. Such postponement, President Harding had said, would be necessary unless a sales tax could be passed.

Positive developments in the situation, aside from revelation of the Ohio delegation sentiment for postponement, were:

1.—Farm bloc senators called a meeting for next week to consider a fight against the sales tax proposal.

2.—It became known that President Harding, in advocating a sales tax, wants it so arranged that the ultimate consumer—the average man—will not be bearing a tax trebled, quadrupled or more, by the passing on process between producer, jobber, retailer and himself.

In other words, he wants the so-called producers or manufacturers' tax, which would levy a small percentage at the source of production. This levy naturally would be passed on to the buyer, but there would be no reason for increasing the amount in each successive step, since there would be no levy on the "turn-over." A 1 percent levy of this kind probably would raise $300,000,000 a year. The sales tax is bitterly opposed in a large section of congress. It could not pass for any purpose other than the bonus—perhaps not even for that.

GEO. GUSTAFSON OF GLENDALE IS KILLED IN L. A.

Riding Home on P. E. Car
He was Struck by Scaffolding

There's an unhappy home today on West Milford street, Glendale. George E. Gustafson, 25, an employe of the United Cycle Supply company of 1043 South Olive street, quit his work and boarded a Glendale Pacific Electric car for his home. As the car, No. 456, in charge of Conductor Laport, passed Sixth and Flower, a piece of scaffolding knocked Gustafson from the car and under the wheels. Detective Sergeants Dean and Davidson made an investigation and took the body to the Receiving hospital.

He leaves a young widow and six-month-old baby at his home in Glendale.

VILLA AIDS MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Panchito Villa is ready to take the field against any revolutionary force that may arise in Mexico. Friends of Villa here today said that if the moves that are reported from the border develop into real revolution, Villa will be willing to aid the Obregon government.

BOUDOIR COLORS

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Black and purple boudoirs, with rose lights and black bed sheets, are the style now, according to interior decorators here.

NEW SWIMMING RECORD

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 18.—A new world's record for the 100-yard back stroke was set here by John Weismuller of the Illinois Athletic club, time 1:06 3/5.

The Soldiers' Bonus

A bloc of Ohio Congressmen has been organized to stop the soldiers' bonus. That is, they would defer consideration until June.

Kill it, in other words, by inertia. Do that by neglect, what they do not dare do by vote in Congress.

It is unfortunate that the movement is initiated in Ohio.

In that state the presidential pulse normally is most distinctly felt.

Certain mid-west Congressmen here joined in the "general movement" toward postponement until summer.

To the Glendale Press the "general movement" is most ostrich like, a thrusting of congressional heads into the sands, or mud, of the Ohio river in the sublime belief that the rest of the body is concealed.

The American Legion of California, the entire West, East, North and South expect the Ohio Legionnaires to do their duty.

That duty will specifically consist in applying themselves to the exposed portions of the Congressmen with that assiduity which they exercised against the Germans over there.

Thus it will be conveyed to the Congressmen that while war may be Hades—

Warriors on a close up contact are infinitely worse—and that ostrich headed senators require bomb-proofs when they "dig in" in Ohio mud.

For, unfortunately, for the Congressmen, they cannot bury their future careers, when they hide that part supposed to contain brains.

Said the Glendale post of the American Legion to Congressman Lineberger telegram of inquiry today:

BONUS MUST PASS AT ONCE. METHOD AS TO RAISING FUNDS UP TO CONGRESS. SALES TAX, OR ANY OTHER METHOD SATISFACTORY TO THE PEOPLE AND EX-SERVICE MEN HERE. DELAY AS PROPOSED BY OHIO MEMBERS UNSATISFACTORY.

MISS PANKHURST K. OF P. PREPARES WILL SPEAK AT WOMEN'S CLUB CELEBRATION OF 58TH BIRTHDAY

Noted English Suffragette to Make Address
March 10

Feminine citizens of Glendale who have followed the woman movement throughout the world with interest and sympathy, who were here when the vote was won by California women, and who thrilled with satisfaction when they cast their first ballot—the official recognition of their citizenship—are tremendously interested in the news that Cristabel Pankhurst, the famous English suffragette, daughter of Mrs. Sylvia Pankhurst, will be the guest of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club, Friday evening, March 10, and the speaker at the first of the three entertainments which the organization is giving as a benefit for its club room fund.

As different as possible from the imagined type of militant suffragist, this curly-headed, round faced young English woman, though gentle of expression and controlled of voice, shows courage, energy and decision in every gesture, and she gestures with her whole body in a way that is fascinating to watch even though it be not artistic.

She believes in letting the dead past bury its dead, and the awful cataclysm of the war has seemingly buried any bitterness that may have existed before that because of the treatment of the women of England by officialdom. It brought the very men who were fighting "votes for women" to the feet of the suffragists to beg their help in arming and financing the British soldiers, but with which the humor with which it is not forgotten.

At an early date the La Halla temple will hold a food sale for the benefit of the Pythian home, the location for construction of which will be decided soon.

AUTO TRADES ASSOCIATION MEETS

A well-attended meeting of the battery and electric craft of the Auto Trades Association was held last night at the Automobile Service company, 113 West Harvard street, H. M. Parker, a member of this firm, being host of the evening. Lengthy discussions were given on a number of different phases of the battery and electric departments of the auto business, consisting of coffee, sandwiches and cake, was served.

The feeling expressed at the meeting is that so far as the battery business is concerned it will not be a great while before things are normal. This condition should come, it was stated, in about a month.

DOG CATCHER IS OUT

Protests have been received by the Glendale police department against the noise made by dogs in the region of East Maple street, which, it is understood, is more or less true with regard to other sections of the city. Chief Martin has given orders to the dog catcher to be especially active in the East Maple district, and, if possible, to remove the sources of the trouble.

MUSIC CLUB SURPRISE IS BIG SUCCESS

MEET CHARTERERS

Unique Program of Excellent Numbers Given to Good Audience

The "party" given by the Glendale Music club in the chamber of commerce banquet hall, Friday evening to celebrate its first birthday, was a triumphant success, which included not only a fine and unusual program, but the introduction to the audience by the president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, of the charter members of the organization, officers and directors of both the parent club and the junior and juvenile auxiliaries.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, who had been one of the first members, and who had launched the club with an enthusiastic speech, was called to the platform where he made one of his brief, characteristic and whimsical responses in which he declared that the speech referred to had really been made by Mrs. Jones as he had merely repeated what she had told him to say, sentence by sentence. He felicitated the club and the community on the success of the club and pledged himself and the city administration to its support to any reasonable limit.

The big feature of the close of the evening after the charter members and officers had been introduced was the exhibition of the birthday cake which had been made by Mrs. Bert Woodard, member of the club and wife of the city attorney.

It was a lovely example of floral sculpture in sugar, and many were the exclamations of admiration as it made the circuit of the auditorium on a tea wagon propelled by Mrs. Colin Cable, chairman of the hospitality committee. It had been made in the shape of a harp, strung with real wire strings. It appeared to be twined with morning glories, the leaves and flowers even to the unfolded buds, being reproduced with wonderful similitude to life. As the music club is constantly flowering in new and varied programs, the symbol seemed especially appropriate.

Beside the cake a single stout candle, also twined with morning glories and when, after its triumphant journey it was lifted to the platform, this candle was lighted by Mrs. Jones with a few words about the aim of the club to be a light and inspiration in the community.

H. V. Hollister, president of the chamber of commerce, which had shown its courtesy by presenting to the club a handsome gavel, was called to the platform to extinguish the candle. In responding he said he didn't know whether or not he was regarded as a "blow hard," but he understood it to be a part of his duty to make a birthday wish for the club and he was sure, after hearing the delightful program of the evening, that any wish he might make would come true. Said he:

"I wish you health, happiness and success. Health that you may grow and become strong to do the work laid out for you in Glendale. Happiness that you may be happy in your work and bring happiness and cheer to the people you entertain. Success that you may do the most for yourself and Glendale."

The spontaneous applause which followed the speech indicated that Mr. Hollister had voiced the general sentiment.

Mrs. Jones, having declared that (Continued on page 3)

THREE INJURED IN WRECK AT EAGLE ROCK

Mrs. Margaret Smith and Two Sons Are Caught
When Car Hits Turn

Mrs. Margaret Smith of 1412 Meridian avenue, South Pasadena, and two sons, Owen and Frank, are all in a serious condition at the Pasadena Receiving hospital after an accident which occurred this morning between Eagle Rock and Pasadena. They were driving fast and could not hold a turn, running up the bank and turning over twice.

Owen Smith, it is reported, received internal injuries and had three ribs broken; Frank received abrasions. The mother, it is believed, is dying. Owen Smith was a mechanic at the Caddell Motor company in Eagle Rock and it was while taking him to his work that the terrible accident occurred.

ODD JUST GOOD NEWS

FIRE DESTROYS LICORICE FACTORY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed the factory of the United Licorice company, First and Harrison streets, at a loss estimated at $20,000. Several adjoining buildings were badly damaged and occupants of the Brooklyn hotel fled from their beds.

BONOMI FAILS TO FORM CABINET

ROME, Feb. 18.—Premier Bonomi today presented to King Victor Emmanuel his resignation and that of his cabinet. The chamber voted against the ministry yesterday, 295 to 107, and Bonomi's cabinet fell for the second time within a month. An attempt will be made to form a coalition government.

BLOOD FEUD IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The political feud in Chicago's "bloody nineteenth ward" claimed its fourteenth victim today. Tony Pascoalio, organizer for a political faction, was found dead near an alley with his throat cut and a bullet wound in his heart. A razor was by his side. No trace of the murderers was found.

$150,000 STOLEN ON FULLMAN

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—Sidney Kregel, New York jewelry salesman, reported to police here today that his satchel containing $150,000 worth of diamonds was stolen from his berth on an Illinois Central train. Kregel said he left Chicago last night and when he awoke in St. Louis today he discovered the gems were missing.

WORLD'S BOWLING RECORD ACHIEVED

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—What is believed to be a world's bowling record was hung up by P. Marino, Chicago, who bowled 1212 in five games in the national bowling tournament last night. S. Thomas, Chicago, went into the lead with a total of 364 18-50 in 30 games. Marino, with 358 20-50 in the same number of games, was second.

JAPAN REFUSES TO ADMIT MRS. SANGER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Margaret Sanger, president of the American Birth Control league, who was unable to secure a visa for her passport yesterday, will sail for Japan Tuesday regardless, she declared today. Officials of the Japanese consulate, after an exchange of cablegrams with Tokyo, politely adhered to their position that Mrs. Sanger could not be admitted to Japan, even under the guise of a traveler.

SERVICE MAN IS FROZEN STEALING RIDE

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 18.—Mute evidence of a futile fight for life on the part of a man in the ice box of a sealed and empty refrigerator car was discovered in the Boise freight yards Friday evening when yard attendants broke into the car and made the gruesome find of the frozen body of a young man, about 25 years old, and evidently a former service man. The face was covered with ice.

An iron bar which he had ripped from the ice bunk was found beside the body. The car was billed through from Omaha.

CHILDREN SAVED BY HEROIC NUNS

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Heroic work by a group of nuns during a fire at the Home for the Friendless here was credited today with saving lives of the 100 children inmates. The children, all under 12 years of age, were being tucked into bed on the third floor of the home when the sister superior noticed heavy smoke coming from the attic. She ordered one squad of half a dozen nuns to get the children out of the building. Another half dozen were given axes, hatchets and fire extinguishers and sent to the attic to extinguish the flames. When the first apparatus arrived the sisters had the fire extinguished. Facing the scorching heat, they poured the chemicals on the blaze and checked it with a loss of $5000.

Social Success

35 COUPLES PRESENT

Women's Auxiliary Decorates Hall Assisted
by Thornycrofters

The American Legion inaugural ball Friday night in the Legion hall certainly proved a success in every way. There were about 35 couples, who spent a jolly evening dancing to the wonderful music furnished by Vaughn's four-piece orchestra.

The hall was most artistically decorated in yellow acacia and pink peach blossoms. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. Chalmers Day and Mrs. George E. Clayton, of the women's auxiliary, who were kindly assisted by Messrs. Lietig, Jeffries, Racine and Peterson of Thornycroft's. The Legion wishes to thank those boys who came out to assist in making this dance the great success it was. During the evening delicious punch and wafers were served. Every one had a most enjoyable time, the crowd being of the congenial kind that makes merriment wherever it goes and for this reason the affair was a jolly one.

The committee in charge of the evening included Messrs. Chalmers Day, Gordon Clayton and Jim Henry Ilse.

MCDONALD WANTS SECOND MATCH

Calls at Glendale Press and Issues Defy to Hackenschmidt

Jack McDonald, Canadian champion heavyweight wrestler, called at the office of the Glendale Press this morning to issue a red-hot challenge for a return wrestling match with John Hackenschmidt, the popular Glendale wrestler. A few weeks ago Hackenschmidt won a bout between these two, but McDonald claims he did not get a fair shake in the match. Therefore he comes back at "Hack" for a return match. He knows, he says, that things will look different if he is given another chance.

McDonald says he will meet Hackenschmidt on any terms the Glendale man may choose. He thinks he is entitled to another chance. The Glendale man will doubtless accommodate him. McDonald issues this challenge through the Glendale Daily Press.

HI JUNIORS HOLD FORTY-NINE PARTY

High school juniors enjoyed a novel party Friday evening at the school when they came as 49ers, the boys in top boots, overalls and dark shirts, the girls in blouses and skirts of working materials and also as "old fashioned girls in hoop-skirts."

The evening opened with a brief program in the auditorium of the school when a dramatic skit and song was put on by Loren Patrick, president of the class. Harold Sprague, David Griffith and one other whose name could not be learned.

After the program the class adjourned to the girls' gym which had been made to represent the saloon of '49, the common meeting place of the argonauts. There was a very good representation of the bar with Allen Pollock acting as bar-keeper and where root beer, pop, ginger ale were served, with individual cakes centered with the numbers "23," also individual bricks of ice cream centered with red hearts.

SWEET SIXTEEN AT ENTERTAINMENT
The sweet sixteen entertainment given at the First Methodist church Thursday evening by the first section of the Ladies' Aid was a success socially and financially and will probably encourage the leaders who had the evening in charge—Mrs. Charles Starkey, Mrs. C. R. Lusby and Mrs. W. E. Cleveland, to follow it up with other affairs kindred in nature.

During the first hour while the audience was assembling, the Sunday school orchestra played. A musical program then followed which included a vocal solo by Mr. Kuehny, piano solo by Mr. Slater, numbers by the Philathea Glee club, "Soldiers' Chorus" from Faust sung by men of the church choir, vocal solo by Mr. Winder, who has recently come to Glendale audience gathered there from the surrounding cities, to hear the second of a series of monthly twilight recitals, given for the organ fund of the Holy Family church. The programs are constructed by Harry Girard, and the first recital, on January 11th, was a musical gem of the first water. Mr. Girard promises greater things for the second recital, February 19, as this is to be of a concerted or chamber music character. For instance, an ensemble of piano, organ, harp and violin will accompany all artists, who in turn will be heard in duets, trios and quartets, thus providing a program of greater interest, than could be obtained by a succession of solos, only.

TWILIGHT CONCERT SUNDAY WILL BE WELL ATTENDED

Popularity of Benefit for Church Organ Fund Is Indicated

from the east, vocal solo by Miss Dorothy Peart, vocal quartet numbers by Dr. C. R. Lusby, Dr. P. O. Lucas, Carl and Frank Butterfield.

A get-acquainted same was played and refreshments for which a charge was made were served at a variety of booths which were very prettily decorated, the young women in charge being gowned in colonial costumes. About 250 were present.

HUBERT WOODS IS ILL AT HOME

Hubert Woods, son of Mrs. Nanno Woods of West Milford street, is confined to his home with influenza. He is a student in the California school of technology.

MRS. WALTER JONES ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Walter Jones, 430 Vine street, was hostess Friday afternoon at one of the biggest social affairs that has been given in Glendale since the year opened, a card party at which tables were provided for bridge and five hundred.

The rooms in which the players gathered were given a charming floral setting with acacia blooms and Chinese lilies and at the close of the play delicious refreshments were served. Fortunate guests were: Mesdames C. H. Meadows, A. M. Draper, D. Hogan, A. H. Montgomery, R. A. Puffer, Sr., R. A. Puffer, Jr., R. D. Angelica, G. D. Roach, Warren Roberts, Monroe Hurst, Eustace Young, G. D. Neill, Homer Lockwood, Colin Cable, W. Hoopes, Charles Sanders, J. W. Hearnshaw, S. Kinsley, E. P. Hayward, Chester Worling, W. E. Halstead, A. C. Thelm, Bert Ward, C. Aicholz, H. C. Horner, Calvin Whiting, Arthur Dibern, J. A. Apple, E. Holbrook, J. Hancock, Henry Ralston, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. T. Winchell from Winnipeg, Mrs. H. Fowler of Chicago, Mrs. C. Campbell of Chicago and Miss F. R. Gorman of Arcadia.

The first prize for bridge went to Mrs. E. P. Hayward, a handsome linen hot roll cover embellished with Madeira embroidery. The first prize in 500 was won by Mrs. Halstead, who received a pair of linen towels trimmed with fllet lace. Mrs. Young received the second 500 prize, a hand embroidered handkerchief.

METHODIST BROTHERHOOD GIVES A BANQUET

The Brotherhood of the First Methodist church gave a banquet on Friday night in the church parlors. This was a delightful affair and the delicious oyster stew dinner was served to about 125 members. Those in charge of the dinner were George Jeffries and W. A. Webber. These banquets are somewhat different from the usual church affair in that the men prepare the meal themselves and serve it. They admit that it is as good as that prepared by any woman. Most interesting talks were given by Dr. Cullen, Rev. C. M. Crist, Rex Kelley and City Manager William Reeves. Mr. Reeves made a fine impression upon the men's minds and they appreciated his talk very much. Rev. C. Norton was also a speaker. Mr. Garney, Federated Brotherhood president of Glendale, was present.

The long tables looked very attractive with their vases of yellow acacia blossoms, and the affair was a great success in every way.

Mrs. Allen Green of 630 South Kenwood street, entertained the Missionary society of the Congregational church on Thursday afternoon with about 35 guests present. A pleasing program was given on "China" and some very interesting speakers were present. After the program delicious refreshments were served.

CHAPTER B. A. IS GUEST OF MRS. COOPER

Chapter B. A. of the P. E. O. was most pleasantly entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cooper, 202 North Central. The president, Mrs. Freeman Kelley, was ill and for the first time this year was unable to be present. In her absence, a great disappointment to her and chapter members. Her office was filled by the vice president, Mrs. A. D. Cross.

Another member who was considerably under the weather, Mrs. Josephine Brant, was present. In spite of her indisposition because she did not want to break her record of unflinching attendance for three or four years.

Seventeen members were present and the following guests: Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mrs. Gus Fulliam and Mrs. Jean Wilde. The lady last named was one of the charter members of the chapter who has been living in Bakersfield and who surprised her old friends also coming to say good bye because she is moving still further away, viz., to Stockton. Mrs. Campbell gave an interesting account of her experiences as a jurywoman.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Kate Parker, who made an interesting talk on the P. E. O. record. At the close of the session refreshments were served.

MISS PERKINS HONORS BROTHER

Fortunate were the guests at the party given by Miss Eleanor Perkins Friday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. C. Hughey, 409 West Lomita, in honor of the brother of the hostess, Wilbur Perkins. It was a surprise in celebration of his birthday.

The chief diversion of the evening was a game of indoor baseball, of which the captains were Cecil Percy of Sunland and Miss Bessie Ross of this city. Miss Ross' team won by a score of 12 to 7, the prize being a box of home-made candy. There were also guessing games and at the close of the evening refreshments were served which included a handsome birthday cake set with lighted candles; which were blown out while good wishes were made for the honoree. Wilbur had by this time become a pretty thoroughly thumped man, that being the favorite method of conveying birthday congratulations.

The friends who celebrated with him were: Lois Percy, Lorne Schlotzhauer, Miss Vessie Schlotzhauer, Bessie Ross, Dora Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Brown, Verne Wilson, Mr. and Mrs.

war. Three of those months were spent in the hospital recovering from wounds and gas.

He was attached to the fifth regular army division and first saw service in the Vosges mountains, then in the Toul sector, then in the Meuse-Argonne where he was gassed.

He was evacuated back to the United States in April and was in Colorado for nine months. He then accepted a secretaryship in the industrial association at Valje.

Mr. Kelley has always been interested in work for boys but before the war it was as a volunteer unpaid worker. He was graduated from Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., in 1908, and later was engaged in the work of his profession, that of engineer, and allied lines of work.

Edward Solomon, Norman Ramseyer, Gideon Ramseyer, Laveria Kitterman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Seitter, L. C. Hughes, Mrs. Perkins, mother of the honoree, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy.

MRS. REDMOND GIVES LUNCHEON

Mrs. C. A. Redmond of 331 West Harvard street entertained on Friday at a delightful luncheon. The decorations were carried out in pink and white, the luncheon table being centered with a basket of white and pink flowers and the nut baskets being white. After the luncheon a pleasant musical afternoon was enjoyed, at which time Mrs. Lillian Stone, a very fine singer from Los Angeles, rendered several selections which were greatly appreciated.

The guests of the afternoon included Mrs. Lyna Wolf, Mrs. Lillian Stone of Los Angeles, Mrs. Robert Cullen, Miss Margaret Coons of Pennsylvania, Dr. R. L. Young and Mrs. W. A. Tanner.

SECRETARY RHOADES AT ORANGE SHOW

Secretary James Rhoades of the Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Rhoades journeyed to San Bernardino this morning where they are spending today visiting at the Orange show.

Mrs. A. L. Hudson of 528 North Jackson street entertained at a party Thursday afternoon for her little daughter, Miss Lottie Hudson, who celebrated her ninth birthday. A very pleasant afternoon was spent in playing games and there were about 20 little guests who enjoyed the afternoon. Miss Lottie received many pretty and useful gifts.

Mrs. Hudson was assisted by Mrs. Charles Trobert of Whittier. At the close of the afternoon dainty refreshments were served and the large birthday cake was cut.

Valley Chiropractors' Meeting—The San Fernando Valley Chiropractors association held its monthly meeting Friday night at the residence of Dr. Elbe on South Louise. After the business meeting Dr. Elbe served the members refreshments, and a social hour followed. The chiropractors present included Dr. A. M. Atwater, G. Hartly and E. C. Hartly of Burbank, Dr. Albert Vack, Dr. Charles Hewen, Dr. Virgil Pool, and A. W. Garte of Glendale. The next meeting will be held at the office of Dr. A. M. Atwater, in Burbank.

J. C. Stillion to Speak—Mr. J. C. Stillion, who was formerly the teacher of the men's Bible class of the Presbyterian church, and who has been traveling through the east, giving Bible readings in many of the large cities, has returned and will speak to the class at the city hall tomorrow morning at 9:30.

Mr. B. M. Winder of 631 East Maple street will sing a tenor solo some time during the session. This class is open to all men of the city who do not attend any other church. The class numbers something over 100 now and it is planned to make it 300 in a very short time.

Mr. Keith L. Brooks, who is the regular teacher of the class, is recovering nicely from his recent illness and hopes to be with the class by next Sunday.

Listening in on Eve

THEIR STURDY DIET

"And what did you have for dinner?" began the family of the girl who had been out to the theatre the evening before with an affluent young man. "Tell us all about it!"

"Well," reflected the pretty girl, patting her left ear bun anxiously. "Let me see! Why, I ordered roast beef—"

"I knew it," exploded her male parent, brandishing an orange spoon. "I could have told you all about that dinner without bothering to ask! No doubt what Petrolia ordered besides roast beef was mashed potatoes and gravy, boiled cabbage and bread pudding."

"I did not!" contradicted the pretty girl indignantly. "I had rice pudding!"

"Oh, my goodness!" moaned her lady parent with tears in her voice, you never did, did you? Oh, Petrolia!"

"Well, what's the matter with roast beef and rice?" demanded the criminal.

"Haven't you any spirit of adventure within you?" inquired her father. "Don't you yearn to try new things? Why go to the Pinkwood to eat, where they charge for each breath and where you are apt to have at the next table watching you a foreign count or an Oklahoma millionaire or a movie king or a rich but honest workman, and drag them down from the realms of poetry like that? You don't look like a roast beef girl, Petrolia, and any one regarding you in your flossy apparel, which I have paid for with tears of anguish, would expect you to dine on nightingales' tongues and avocado pear salads, and peach Mahab and such stuff—why, I don't put it beyond you to order corned beef and sauerkraut at the Pinkwood some night, and if you do that head waiter is going to have a slow procession behind him two days later! Why don't you try something new when you have a chance?"

"Gee!" said her small brother. "I'd order all different kinds of ice cream, you bet, if I went there, and choklut eclairs and—"

"But I like roast beef," insisted Petrolia in injured tones. "Roast beef always is good anywhere, and how can I tell whether other things will be? I like to be sure!"

LANDIS RESIGNS FROM THE BENCH

A great deal of criticism was started when the judge remained on the bench and also administered his baseball duties. It came to a head with an effort to censure him in congress.

One of his most recent official acts, which was characteristically Landis, led to the dismissal of John V. Clinin, an assistant United States district attorney. Evidence presented in a bootlegger's case before the grand jury appeared to Landis to be entirely sufficient to warrant an indictment, although no indictment was returned. Investigators were unable to find the real source. Landis called the principals into court, told them to tell the truth and found that about $1000 had been paid by the bootleggers to a politician to obtain the "no indictment" finding of the grand jury.

Landis, the son of a prominent Indiana family, was on the federal bench for nearly 17 years. He assumed the office on March 28, 1905.

Landis' chief pride is in his family, consisting of a son and daughter, and his grandchildren.

During the war he was intensely patriotic in his support of the government. His son Reed, made an enviable record as an aviator with the American forces. On his return to this country he married and now has two children in whom the judge has always taken great delight.

The judge's work as baseball commissioner, as were his activities on the bench, was characterized by absolute carelessness and strictness in dealing with players and managers to the rules.

His most noted baseball decision was in the case of Babe Ruth, swat king, who had violated a rule of organized baseball by participating in a barnstorming tour after he had taken part in a world's series. Great pressure was brought to bear on Landis, only to be light on Ruth in his decision, but also to lessen the sentence after it had been imposed.

and be sure and "stay through." Mr. Austin said there were four intermediates from his church who would put on a little skit and they represented two Irish boys and two girls. The boys were not planning on attending the convention and the girls finally persuaded them to go. The reason they chose the Irish is because the convention begins on March 17.

Immediately after giving this little entertainment the Hollywood people left for Pasadena where they presented the same skit. The next number was "Talks and Songs" led by Vaughan Harlan with Miss Leslie Lupton at the piano.

proved very lively, everyone singing. With Ruth Olmstead, intermediate superintendent of Los Angeles city union and Miss Mary Sharp, vice-president of the Los Angeles city intermediate union then gave interesting talks. Glen Moore spoke of the wonderful work being done by the Los Angeles county Christian Endeavor union during the past year and he urged everybody to stand back of it during the coming year; $500 was pledged as the Glendale district share in the county work for the next year. The meeting closed with songs and the Mizpah.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church prepared the delicious banquet and those in charge of the entire evening were Mrs. C. C. Stoler, social chairman of the district, Miss Marjorie Smith and Miss Nancy St. Clair.

AUTOISTS LAUGH AT BAD WEATHER

Nothing can stop motorists from driving to Southern California. Adverse weather conditions on some of the transcontinental routes are laughed at by auto parties which have decided to visit this part of America during the winter, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

And so keen is the joy of the visitors upon arriving here that every party becomes a magnet for drawing friends to the coast, "it is pointed out."

Automobile club officials are of the opinion that transcontinental motor travel to Southern California will increase by thirty-five per cent each year from now on, so strong has the lure of the west penetrated throughout the east. This lure is one of climate as well as touring conditions.

Every section of the southern part of California is being benefited this year by the unusual influx of motoring visitors, point out the Auto club's touring officials. Every county in the state is being "inspected" by the new arrivals in a manner more thorough than ever before. The number of parties reaching here over the transcontinental routes this winter is one of the touring wonders of the year. More than 100 parties a day are coming into the southern section from the east alone, and scores more from the north and from neighboring states. All calling at club offices make known their appreciation of the receptions tendered them everywhere.

The Polynesians and Malays always sit down when talking to a superior.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

CHRISTIAN C. SMITH. Christian C. Smith, a pioneer resident of Glendale, living at 808 South Verdugo road, passed away at his home February 16th after an illness of several weeks. He was 63 years of age and had many friends in this community. Mr. Smith was a native of Denmark, but has lived in Glendale for several years. He owned the building at 304 South Brand boulevard, now occupied by Robinson Bros. Transfer and Storage company.

Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers at Forest Lawn cemetery, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. L. G. Scovern company will be in charge. Deceased leaves to mourn his death, a widow, and daughter, Miss Anna Smith, a junior at Glendale high school, and two brothers, Charles Smith of Idaho and Martin Smith of Fresno.

MUSIC CLUB MAKE HIT WITH NOVELTY

she could never bring herself to destroy the novelty work of art Mrs. Woodard was requested to cut it, which she did, surrounded by a dense crowd of admiring witnesses all clamoring "please give me a flower." Everybody waited for a sample and everybody pronounced the cake delicious. Meanwhile fruit punch had been dispensed in the rear of the room by Mrs. Helen Campbell, Miss Annie McIntyre, Mrs. Haskell Lapham, Mrs. O. E. Von Oven, Mrs. Charles Meadows, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. Ernest Parker, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Mrs. Etta Kent.

The curiosity which had been on tip-toe relative to the promised surprise of the evening was satisfied when the programs were distributed to guests as they arrived. It was discovered that the audience which numbered 500 or over was to be entertained during the first part of the evening by members of the Juvenile auxiliary.

Before turning the meeting over to that organization Mrs. Jones expressed her happiness in the big audience and the many "beautiful birthday presents" in the way of new members. She explained that the juvenile part of the program had been kept a secret that its excellence might come as a surprise. She then introduced the little officers, Miss Helen Smith, president; Margaret Campbell, second vice president; Josephine Brant, recording secretary; Helen White, corresponding secretary; Josephine McLaren, treasurer; other officers being first vice president, Edwin Cline, and historian, Margaret Longley.

The president, secretary and treasurer were called to the platform to participate in a regular business session which preceded the program and which was conducted with due regard to parliamentary law. After the reading of the minutes a resolution was offered that the club never give another program, Haydn's prize symphony. The motion was seconded and a member arose to a point of order to ask why that composition should not be given. The framer of the resolution replied: "Because Haydn wrote that symphony to wake up sleepy audiences and no one ever wants to sleep during a program of the Juvenile auxiliary," which was satisfactory to the questioner and to the audience which yielded laughing applause. After the treasurer had submitted a report for the year which showed a balance in the treasury of $25.91, the program was given.

"Tuck Me to Sleep" in My "Tucky Home," (Meyer), sung by Preston Hanning with violin obligato by Donald Murray. The boy has a lovely voice and breathed as naturally as though talking, singing without effort. He was enthusiastically encored, singing "My Wild Irish Rose."

Next was an excellent piano number by Rebecca Brant, who played "The Waltz Doll" (Poldini) and was also recalled.

Helen White, looking like a Woodland spirit in her soft green dress, whistled very sweetly "The Springtime of Love" (Moskowsky) and for an encore whistling the "Thrush at Eve" (Cadman).

A really wonderful piano solo from MacDowell's "Indian Lodge" was played by Helen May Skeen, who at first denied the recall of enthusiastic applause but finally responded with another MacDowell number.

The program closed with a "Song of February" by a group of six girl members who sang charmingly.

After this meeting had been declared adjourned by the youthful president, Miss Freida Peycke, who gave the balance of the program, was introduced. Her contribution was a pianologue which vastly entertained her appreciative hearers, similar to one given before the Tuesday Afternoon club. It included the following numbers:

Woes of a Boy—Anonymous.

MISS HAUPT IS VISITING HERE

Traveling in Interest of American Indian to Tell His Story

Miss Hope Elizabeth Haupt, of Washington, D. C., whose picture appeared in the Glendale Daily Press of February 15, seems to have picked up the torch laid down by Helen Hunt Jackson. She was a guest in Glendale Friday and will be here again.

In the interests of the American Indian she travels up and down the United States in the work she was asked to undertake by Dr. Parshall, who followed Bishop Whipple, famous throughout the north and midwest as founder of missions for the Indians.

Her work, which is self-supporting, is the educating of the whites in a knowledge of the present conditions that obtain among the Indians and calling attention to the neglect by the nation, the state and the church of the 20,000 survivors of the 200,000 Indians who were in the state when the forty-niners first came.

Miss Haupt says that the court of claims bill for the California Indians will soon be before the house of representatives at Washington. It was passed by the senate in 1920 but shelved until now. This bill is the outcome of 12 years' effort on the part of Rev.

Us Twines—Poem by Elizabeth Gordon.
"The High Cost of Living," (Maid Powell) and "The Annual Protest."

Charter members of the organization who had signed the constitution at the first club meeting one year ago were reported by Mrs. Jones as follows:

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, Mrs. Spencer Robinson, Mrs. Catherine Shank, Mrs. L. N. Hagood, Mrs. J. A. Wright, Mrs. Vivian Webb, Mrs. Calvin Whiting, Mrs. Grace Jackson, Mrs. Gladys Gibbs Rhenman, Mrs. E. R. Gibbs, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. Charles A. Parker, Mrs. Eva G. Cunningham, Mrs. Helen D. Cole, Mrs. Charles Marlenee, Mrs. Clara Lowinsky, Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, Miss Gertrude Champlain. Other members who attended that meeting but failed to sign were: Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Kelley, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Miss Lorraine Mitchell, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Mrs. Dora Gibson, Mrs. Spencer Robinson, Mrs. Frank Arnold.

Soon after the club was called to order a very beautiful basket of flowers, peach blossoms, roses and Chinese lilies, was sent to the platform with a card conveying the congratulations of the California Academy of Music, which also sent a graceful letter of congratulation.

Frederick G. Collett, a representative of the Indian board of cooperation which is headed by Chancellor David Starr Jordan, and David B. Barrows, D. D.

Rev. Collett has recently found the lost treaty of 1852 under which the United States government promised the Indians of California $1,800,000 for schools, school equipment, agricultural equipment and various other benefits, and in addition, 7,500,000 acres of land, all of it fine agricultural soil, of which the Indians never have had possession and which, Miss Haupt says, has been sold from time to time by the government and the money used for federal purposes.

This treaty was duly signed by many chiefs who made their crosses before witnesses, and also signed by representatives of the government. Printed in the Congressional Record, it was tucked away in the archives of the nation at Washington and never carried out. It was there found by Rev. Collett, through whose efforts it has again been brought before congress.

When the California Indians realized that they had a "friend at court" in Rev. Collett, 53 Indian societies which were auxiliary to the Indian board of co-operation, raised a fund sufficient to finance the journey to Washington of eight chiefs, and also Miss Helen Dare of San Francisco to act as their secretary, and take the matter up with the government. The sum raised amounted to $750 for each chief which their Indian clients were glad to contribute that their representatives might travel in comfort and be maintained in dignity in the capital. The contributions came for the most part from Indian day laborers or small farm owners.

Miss Haupt expects to arrange for talks in many of the churches of Southern California, in Glendale as well as elsewhere, and was in this city to meet clergymen and others interested in this form of mission work. Announcement of the date and place of her address here will be made later.

According to Miss Haupt there are now as many Indians in the United States as were here in the time of Columbus, and instead of dying out they are increasing in number, having in many localities adapted themselves to civilization. During the past 50 years. Of the Indian population, however, 80 per cent are pagan, she says, statistics showing that 10 per cent have been Christianized by the Catholics and 10 per cent by the united work of all the protestant church work of all the protestant churches. This is explained, she says, by the raw deals the Indians have received from the whites and their un-Christian treatment by the United States government, which has prejudiced them against the religions of the whites.

Now, she says, the government is educating its wards without Christianizing them and producing a lower grade of Indian than the original red man because he has lost the old ideals he revered and have no substitutes for them.

COL. SMITH TELLS OF HIS BATTALION

Eagle Rock Congregation Thrilled With Story of War Front

EAGLE ROCK, Feb. 18.—An audience filling the auditorium of the Congregational church and overflowing into the lecture room gathered Tuesday evening to hear the address of Col. Dan Morgan Smith, who served in France as commander of "The Battalion of Death." This name was given to the First battalion, 358th Infantry, 90th division, A. E. F., because it went into the St. Mihiel sector with 1120 men and came out with 325, after having caused great loss of life among the Hun.

Col. Smith is known all over the United States for his powers of oratory and his strong convictions, which have been likened to those of Bryan and Roosevelt respectively. Everywhere he has been greeted by crowded houses. His pictures of war scenes in his own experience are vivid, and his attack on intemperance follows the assertion that the battle for support of the prohibition amendment to the constitution is fully as important to this country as the contest in Europe was. He makes a strong appeal for support of the efforts of the anti-saloon league.

MRS. LUDLOW COMPLIMENTED

In compliment to Mrs. T. H. Ludlow, a member who has been absent from Eagle Rock about a year and returned last week, the Thursday Morning Music club on February 16 enjoyed a luncheon together after the usual session, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Braasch, 334 North Ellenwood drive. The program of the morning was made up of vocal and piano compositions by Homer Bartlett. A biographical sketch was read and each member present illustrated the composer's work on the piano and violin, and in song. The well-known "Grand Polka de Concert" was among the numbers given. The club has arranged to attend the performance of the Russian Grand opera company in Los Angeles to-night.

CARDS AT CLUB

With a cheerful blaze in the big fireplace and great clusters of orange calendulas placed about the club house parlors, a cozy setting was provided for the card party given Thursday evening under the auspices of the Women's Twentieth Century club, Eagle Rock. Mrs. Carl D. Nissen and Mrs. Herman Clausenius were the hostesses. Both "500" and bridge whist were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Kyle D. Palmer, Mrs. Ethel Williams, Frank E. Prindle, and Marshall Prindle. The bridge prizes were won by Mrs. A. J. Long, Mrs. Clara S. Ellis and Mr. K. W. Hunt. Coffee and sandwiches were served and it was nearly midnight when the party broke up.

COMMUNITY SINGING

Eagle Rock's community sing, in co-operation with the movement all over the country for universal observance of a new custom tending to weld the people together in Americanization by singing patriotic songs and old favorites during the week beginning February 20, will be on Tuesday evening next, in the Central school auditorium. Miss Laura Mattingly is in charge.

The battalions were in camp. Tents had been pitched and all made shipshape. The cooks had lit their fires. The sergeant-major made his rounds.

"Tripe and unyuns for supper," he said. "Get the tripe ready."

One of the cooks looked up in surprise. "But where's the tripe, sir?" he asked.

"Hanging up on that ten pole," was the reply.

"Lor," said the cook, "an' I just been wiping me 'ands on it! Thort it was a dirty towel!"

Many a man has won fame and fortune by sitting still and saying nothing when every instinct urged him to cry out his own opinion.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Feb. 18.—Rev. B. B. Weatherall, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach twice tomorrow. In the morning his subject will be "United Though on Different Planets." Consideration will be given in the evening to "The Church and Present Day Questions." Some of these questions are: Is Hollywood to be vindicated? Should Sunday be the day for the sale of real estate? Has the church any word to speak about the pending coal strike? A big Christian Endeavor meeting is expected at 6:30, when County Evangelist Superintendent Everett Anderson will have charge. He brings his song leader and soloist with him. Sunday school at 9:45.

Dr. John Hedley will preach his fourth sermon in the series on "The Prayer Life of the Christian" in the Methodist church Sunday morning. This sermon will be the last of the series. The pastor's subject will be "The Strong Man Who Succeeded." Epworth League study at 6:30 will be based on the seventh and eighth chapters of the book, "John Wesley, Jr.," the theme being "An International Opportunity and Obligation." Sunday school at 9:45.

"The Soul of the Universe" is announced as Rev. E. Morgan Isaac's subject Sunday morning, in the Congregational church. Some of the questions considered will be: What relation does the eternal bear to the universe? Is the universe a mere machine without mind or soul? What is man's relation to its seeming mystery and immensity? The evening lecture will treat of "The Present Wave of Crime, Its Cause and Effect." There will be special music. The Young People's meeting is at 6:30. Sunday school is at 9:45, with the exception of Mrs. Fisk's adult Bible class, which meets at 10 o'clock.

In the Episcopal church the regular service for the day will be at 10 o'clock. The rector, Rev. Robert Renison, will preach on "The Still, Small Voice" in the evening. Sunday school at 9:45.

There will be Catholic services at 8 and 10 a. m. in St. Dominic's chapel hall, near the corner of Linden and Myrtle streets. The Christian Science services are held in the Women's clubhouse at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 9:45. Wednesday evening experience meetings 8 p. m.

OS BORNE IS CANDIDATE

Sherill B. Osborne, a son of Congressman H. Z. Osborne, who has resided in Eagle Rock for a year or two past, has yielded to solicitation and allowed his name to be used as a candidate for city trustee and the election early in April, when three trustees will be voted for. Eagle Rock at the present time faces large needs and it is felt that Mr. Osborne's long experience in Los Angeles as city editor of the Express and later as an attorney would be valuable to this community, which is now rapidly in the making.

Before sending a broken part to be welded, the car owner should always get an estimate, otherwise the bill is not unlikely to cost more than a new part. The welders always have an explanation of the excessive charge, but that doesn't help the payer much.

If your car has been driven 2000 or more miles since the valves have last been ground, it will pay to grind them in now. New gaskets should be put under the spark plugs when they are cleaned, and under the valve caps when they are replaced.

Spare asbestos washers should always be treated before being placed in the tool box of the truck. A six hours soaking in olive oil followed by draining and a brief drying and a final rubbing in fine black lead will give a good tight washer that will come adrift cleanly at any time.

When mud is allowed to remain on the brake rod clevises and other similar parts it makes up the oil designed to lubricate the points which become dry and wear excessively. All such parts as this must be cleaned regularly and have fresh oil applied to them.

NEW BUSINESS AT EAGLE ROCK

Store Accommodations Are Being Rushed to Meet Demand

A building permit was issued yesterday for another new business block, to be located at 233-35 North Brand boulevard, and to cost $20,000. This structure will be erected by the Rommel Construction company for F. McG. Kelly. This building will be entirely of brick. There will be three store rooms on the ground floor, while above will be eight three-room apartments, which will be strictly modern in every way.

BUCKET SHOPS STEAL MILLIONS

Plundering of Credulous Is National Evil Say Officials

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—From $200,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 are stolen annually from the pocket of the American public by confidence men and fraudulent brokerage houses, an official of the New York stock exchange estimated for the United Press today.

The estimate is based on figures from reports of the federal trade board and Investment Bankers' association. A fever of speculation has brought about an increase in fraudulent dealers as shown by these developments of the past few weeks.

Nineteen persons have been indicted in New York on charge of conducting bucket shops and more indictments are expected shortly.

In Chicago authorities have uncovered a "swindle trust" which took thousands of dollars from foreign born laborers on promises of interest payments which ran as high as 100 per cent.

The latest development in the New York bucket shops is the expulsion from the Consolidated Exchange of R. H. MacMasters and company. George H. Silkworth, president of the exchange, accused the firm of bucketing—selling securities carried on accounts of customers.

"The present rising stock market spelled doom to the bucketers," the stock exchange official said. "These swindlers rely on a bear or lowering market to keep their heads above water."

"Another reason for the success of bucket shop failures may be seen in the activity of the stock exchange itself. The exchange has been removing its wires from swindling houses and causing them to fail."

In overhauling a car it is wise to keep a pair of varnished small parts to immerse various small parts. An ingenious owner recently hit upon an excellent idea. He fitted in the bottom of this pair a strainer with legs lifting it about three inches above the bottom of the pail. In this way dirt and sediment sink below the strainer and the kerosene keeps cleaner for a longer time.

To start your machine with the ease and grace necessary to keep your motor in good shape, it is important to sit up at the wheel. Slouching brings with it jerky starts, which means abuse to the motor, clutch, transmission, axles and tires.

On a long drive, or where a car is being used regularly, the oiling of the valve stems with a good grade oil will make an appreciable addition to the miles per gallon of gas and will greatly increase the efficiency and pulling power of the motor.

Time won't turn backward for anybody in its flight, which is a mighty good thing for a lot of folks with a past.

You say "I wish" a hundred times where once you say "I will."

The girl is not tagged but she could be easily identified as a San Bernardino girl.

Ten thousand attended the twelfth anniversary of the Orange Exposition, opening last night.

The number of feature exhibits and fruit displays is incomprehensible. The features are affairs of marvelous construction and their coating of citrus fruits glistens in the soft glow of light which comes from a field of California poppies spread over the entire ceiling of a huge tent more than a city block in length.

The throngs surged through the three mammoth tents admiring the displays and the great piles of fruit on tables and rack displays.

One of the exhibits which attracted the visitors is that of Ramona's birthplace, placed and sponsored by the Hemet Chamber of Commerce. Each detail of the romantic California spot is portrayed.

LEWIS WINS IN MINERS' UNION

United Mine Workers Sustain Expulsion of Howat

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 18.—Insurgency no longer threatened division in the ranks of 500,000 coal miners today on the eve of a possible strike vote.

There will be no ramp union movement within the United Mine Workers as the result of a close vote by the wage convention sustaining President John L. Lewis and his administration in expelling Alexander Howat, the stormy petrel of the Kansas mine field, and his rebellious supporters.

Frank Farrington, leader of the Illinois union, who engineered Howat's near victory, said there would be no split. So did Howat. They were the reactionaries and would be the natural leaders of a movement to withdraw.

With this factional squabble out of the way, excepting for voting by those who were absent on the roll call, the convention turned its attention to recommendations of the scale committee for a strike vote if mine owners refuse to continue the existing basic wage scale after the contract expires April 1.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 18.—President John L. Lewis triumphed definitely over Alexander Howat, the outlawed Kansas union leader, and his followers in the United Mine Workers' wage convention today. By the final vote, completed in tumultuous session, the convention refused to reinstate the Kansan in the union and upheld the order of the Lewis administration expelling him.

ENGLISH WALL PAPER RECEIVED

The wedding was to take place that morning. Most people were of the opinion that the bride, aged 45, had pursued the bridegroom and finally cornered him. At any rate, she kept a watchful eye on him now.

On the way to the church the party came to a river, and an old man stood ready to ferry them across. Suddenly there was a loud cry. The bridegroom had fallen overboard.

"Save him! Save him!" shouted the bride.

"My dear girl," answered her father, "calm yourself; he's an excellent swimmer."

"Yes, of course he is," she replied, her voice growing louder and louder, "and—look! He's swimming hard away from us!"

Contrary to popular belief, sounds travel faster in summer than in winter, and in warm than in cold climates.

Truths in Epigram

He who has truth at his heart need never fear the want of persuasion on his tongue.—Ruskin (1819-1900).
Great men are they who see that spiritual is stronger than material force; that thoughts rule the world.—Emerson (1803-1882).
Fame sometimes hath created something of nothing.—Fuller (1608-1661).

THE COAL SITUATION

There are said to be threats of a nation-wide coal strike April first. Such a movement would be a calamity. The public would be the victim. The coal industry bears a peculiar relation to the common welfare. Such strikes in the past, whether the fault of the operators, as often they have been, or the fault of the miners, have worked great hardship. They have been precipitated with utter disregard for the rights of the millions who to some degree must depend on coal.

In the constant war, with its intermittent outbreaks, that is waged between capital and labor in this particular field of activity, it is idle for either side to assert that blame rests wholly upon the other. And it is a singular commentary upon human greed and stupidity that the warring elements cannot muster sufficient intelligence to arrive at a fair and decent understanding.

The manner in which the public has been imposed upon has been exposed many times. When the Reading road owned many mines in Pennsylvania, it gained by every strike. If the miners exacted five cents more a ton, the public was mulcted twenty-five cents. The road fixed the rates for carrying coal, and fixed them so high that this gave excuse for advancing the price to consumers. The high freight rate, at which Reading managers shed crocodile tears, was paid into their own coffers. A knowledge of these facts gave mortal faith a blow from which it has not yet recovered.

Miners do have grounds for complaint. Generally they are forced to trade at company stores where the scale of prices is much higher than at outside stores. This is a noxious form of restraint that verges on slavery. Often their demands that a checker be detailed to count their output are refused. They think that they are being cheated and perhaps they are. They are not allowed to work enough to produce a visible supply exceeding the immediate demand. But for this the occasional coal famine, with its soaring costs to the householder would not be possible, and such famines are profitable, but not to consumers.

Doubtless the men also err in demanding the unreasonable, but a coal miner who feels that he has a right to make a living, if conditions were made tolerable, might be content. The difficulty of coming to an understanding is that neither element is willing to make any concession. This wrongs the public, and gives it the right and duty of devising methods to make both sides behave.

ADMINISTRATION ACCOMPLISHMENTS

In describing the achievements of the republican administration, Senator Lodge cited the disarmament conference. He did this with a wholly proper pride. When he wandered to other lines the showing was less impressive. The fact that the former administration had left matters in some confusion would be admitted even by democrats. It did not constitute any reflection upon the previous administration unless the blame for the world war belonged there also. This obviously would be an unfair view. The presence of war always tends to confusion, and the passing of a war leaves wreckage. To clear this away becomes the duty of whoever is called to authority in the crisis.

Nobody could with consistency find fault with Lodge for extolling the work of the conference. He said the three great objects to be accomplished were the limitation of armament, the termination of the Anglo-Jap alliance and "the attainment of all we could for the benefit of China, the dominant feature of this being the restoration of Shantung."

An observing world is aware that these things were done, and that they were well done save alone as to China. Touching that phase there is not complete satisfaction. There could not be complete satisfaction at any course not reaching the climax of demanding that meddlesome powers, in the Orient or out, keep their hands off the Chinese. The Chinese are quite competent to attend to their own business if given a chance.

However, on the whole the results of the conference were highly satisfactory. Even where reform did not go far enough, it went in the proper direction. Mr. Lodge is entitled to feel pride in the outcome, both as an individual who participated, and as a representative of the republican party.

THROWING BRICKS

Will Hays is getting roundly abused for resigning a government position. He accepts a place that carries with it a salary of $150,000 a year. His critics intimate that it was his duty to continue as postmaster general. Just as though, were a similar opportunity to come to them, they would spurn the big pay, and serve their country with noble unselfishness. Of course there is considerable nonsense in such an attitude. It could not be a sincere attitude.

Hays has been a satisfactory head of the post-office department. It would be silly to say that another head equally satisfactory cannot be found. He does not owe the public any such sacrifice as the posing idealists demand of him. He would be wronging himself if he threw away the opportunity that has come to him.

In his new station as head of the picture producing industry Hays will have far more chance to be of substantial benefit to the public than has been afforded by the office he is about to leave. He may be able to place the business on a higher plane economically and morally. If so, millions of people will share the advantages of the new regime.

BRYAN IN FLORIDA

Information comes out of Florida that Bryan, long identified with Nebraska, desires to represent as senator the southern state that he recently has elected to make his home. By the time the date of the next election has come, Bryan will be a citizen of Florida, with the right to vote, and the right to be voted for, if he can get his neighbors into the mood.

Bryan knows that the democrats of Nebraska can do nothing for him. Indeed, there is scant reason for supposing that the inclination of that party anywhere, to do anything for him, is at fever heat. It has done much. Three separate times it has backed him for the presidency. He has been a member of congress. He held the highest post in the cabinet, and resigned it. At the San Francisco convention Bryan made as hard a fight as ever in his career, but the majority listened to his fervid remarks without getting converted to the principles advocated in them. The majority, in fact, walked over him in a way that to the spectator, seemed almost heartless.

Nebraska democrats are wet, and Bryan is very dry. Here was a split too wide for bridging, and naturally Bryan sought another field where citizens of his political faith were not rare, and perhaps not overly wet. Doubtless he was welcomed with courtesy. However, that local material should be cast aside in order that the late Nebraskan be sent to the senate, does not seem likely. He is not as the carpetbagger of old reconstruction days, and yet in a fashion, he is a carpetbagger.

THE IRON HAND

President Obregon of Mexico is credited with using the "iron hand." When an adventurer in that country essays the old scheme of garnering booty by starting a revolution, he is likely to garner the bullets of a firing squad. This, in each instance, ends the revolution, and promotes the chance for ultimate peace. It is apparent that a need of Mexico had been an iron handed executive. There had been none since the days of Diaz until now.

Diaz, able in his fashion, was a tyrant. He ruled by force and fear alone. He had no scruple as to killing anybody who seemed likely to be a possible political rival. He did not have any broad conception of government. His concern was not for the welfare of his people. To him government was a personal thing, and he advocated order because he desired to keep his hold on power. Obregon is different in every respect, except that he too insists on good order.

The present government of Mexico has the aspect of permanency. It gives every sign of being unlightened. It is seeking to raise the intellectual and economic level of all the people. It is emphatic in emphasizing the importance of education. It is anxious to maintain pleasant relations with the rest of the world. It has made friendly overtures to the United States, which have been ignored or rejected. Probably this course has puzzled Obregon and his advisors as it certainly has puzzled Americans.

But for this reluctance to give moral support to Obregon, it is not likely that a revolution large enough to be a real threat, could have arisen in Mexico.

The plan to make the soldier bonus a load for a few industries to carry does not commend itself as wise or just. The matter concerns the people of the whole country, and they do not ask that they be excused from a share of the responsibility.

Arrest of several members of a blackmailing gang appears to indicate something more serious than a crime inspired of individual greed. There is a suspicion that the plot to rob a citizen of a large sum was a mere symptom of a larger plot to start a sort of reign of terrorism. Anarchists from Russia, even with the support of the parlor bolsheviks, can't get away with this sort of thing.

OLD PEOPLE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A gentleman from Turkey, by the name of Djouro Chemdine, has been knocking about Paris recently trying to get a job in a dime museum, or other place of entertainment. His qualification is that he is 164 years old. At least he says he is, and nobody seems to be old enough to deny it.

Just being old is one way to attain distinction. It is hard work, but it can be done if we stick to it long enough.

For instance, there was Thomas Parr, who died in London in 1635 at the age of 152 years. At least he says he is, and nobody seems to be old enough to deny it.

In 1603 there was born in Scotland a certain Margaret Patten, who married in her twentieth year a gentleman named Gibson. Gibson died soon, and Margaret's grief did not prevent her from living on to the 26th of June, 1739; that is, 136 years altogether.

We find in our reading another example of longevity. Humboldt, in the course of his travels, was present in Lima at the funeral of a Peruvian called Hilario Pari, who had passed the age of 143 years. Up to his 130th year this vigorous old boy walked every day some three or four leagues at a lively pace, which worried the younger men to keep up with him.

A Parisian named Tourniquet died in 1877 at the age of 102. In September, 1875, a worthy couple named Balle gave themselves the pleasure of climbing to the top of the Column Vendome. The husband was 110 years old and the wife 106.

We may terminate these somewhat literary investigations by noting that Sainte-Beuve, in one of his articles upon Mme. Desbordes-Valmore, speaks of two of her ancestors, Antoine and Jacques Desbordes, who were expelled from France by the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, went into Holland, set up as book dealers, and were the publishers of Voltaire's works. One of these Desbordes brothers died at the age of 124, and the other at the age of 125.

And then, of course, there is Methuselah—but that is another story.

(Copyrighted by Dr. Frank Crane)

THE LISTENING POST

A man went forth to do a good deed.
And to make somebody happy.
That is the greatest thing you can do in this world.
Make somebody happy.

That is what religion is for.
What education is for.
What philosophy is for.
What work and play and hope and all that are for.
To make people happy.

Happiness is the birthright of people.
There is everything in life to be happy about.
If we live wholesomely, usefully, honestly, sanely and purposefully.
Unhappiness is tragedy.

So when you want to do the biggest thing you ever did, make somebody happy.
And not temporarily happy only.
But make the condition that offers the chance of happiness abiding.
Then you have done a big thing.

Happiness is the singing of the spirit.
And the spirit was intended to sing.
People in this world were intended to live.
They were born that they might live.
Dying is only an incident.
Life is the big thing.

So the man, realizing all that, went forth to make somebody happy.
And he found a man in the darkness.
And the gloom.
And he shivered a little himself.
Because of the damp and the darkness and the gloom.

So he said to the man in the gloom and darkness:
"Let us go up into the sunlight and the fresh air."

And the man said:
"I would like to but I have lost my way and I don't know how to reach the sunny places."
And the friendly man said:
"I will help you."
And the two of them walked together.

And when they reached the sunny places the two of them sat down.
And the man who had been in the gloom was glad.
And the friendly man was warmed as well.
For he learned that to appreciate the sunny places you must have been in the darkness.
And the spirits of both of them were gladder than before.

And the friendly man talked with the man who had been in the gloom.
Talked of home and friends and work and beauty and opportunity and unselfishness.
And it did him good.

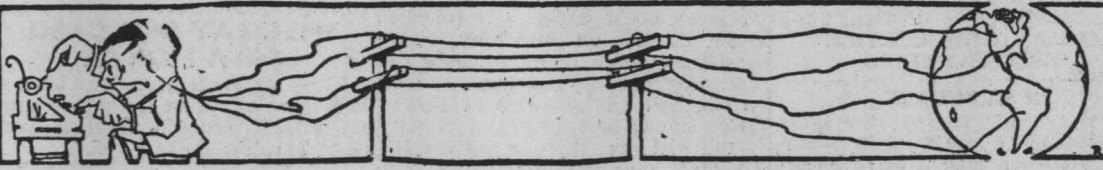

Just as the sunlight he had found for the other man warmed him as well, so the thoughts he expressed for the other man's encouragement gave new strength to himself.

And he found that in giving help to another man he had helped himself.
That in renewing faith for another man he had renewed his own.
That in strengthening another man he had strengthened himself.

And in going out to do a good thing for another man he had done a good thing for himself.
In helping he had been helped.
In cheering he had been cheered.
In comforting he had been comforted.

For you can't do any work of enrichment or stimulation or encouragement without enriching and stimulating and encouraging yourself.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

"Were My Heart As Some Men's Are"—Thomas Campion (—1619)

Were my heart as some men's are, thy errors would not move me;
But thy faults I curious find, and speak because I love thee:
Patience is a thing divine, and far, I grant, above me.

Foes sometimes befriend us more, our blacker deeds objecting.

Than the obsequies bosom-guest with false respect affecting:
Friendship is the Glass of Truth, our hidden stains detecting.

When I use of eyes enjoy, and inward light of reason,
Thy observer will I be and censor, but in season:
Hidden mischief to conceal in State and Love is treason.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

"NUT" LEGISLATION

[New Bedford Standard]

A bill before the Massachusetts legislature would prohibit the sale of candy or sweetmeats to children 13 years of age and under except upon written authorization by parent or guardian. It would not be sufficient merely to arm little Mabel with a permit to be shown to the dealer; she would have to leave it with him, and he would be obliged to keep it on file; and in the interest of the busybodies and the meddlesome Matties, the law further provides that any voter would be privileged to examine these permits at any time in order to ascertain just what children were allowed the candy privilege. This is a fair specimen of nut legislation, interesting chiefly as a symptom of the itching so many people have to see the state usurp parental rights.

One of the interesting features of the next political campaign will be the effort made on both sides to take all the credit for the good accomplished by the farmers' bloc without shouldering any of the blame.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Los Angeles seems destined to be one of the largest cities of the United States. This being a probability so generally recognized, it does not appear wise to be in such a hurry about it.

By the fact that business conditions there, and in the community immediately adjacent, have kept close to normal, this region has become known, quite justly as "the white spot" on the financial map. The map elsewhere had been running to somber hues, shading into black.

One result of the heralded prosperity has been that many have been induced to come here tempted by the delusion that work was abundant, and the mere fact of being here, was the guaranty of prosperity. Such individuals have arrived with small means, quickly exhausted. They roam the streets in quest of work. They sleep in the open because they have not the price of a bed. Soon the police begin to class them as vagrants. Looking eagerly for means of support, they are caught without visible signs of such means, and put into jail.

Put into jail for being unable to find work. This is the twentieth century, too. People are wont to boast that they are civilized.

Naturally a shivering and hungry stranger, ashamed to beg, sometimes steals. This does not mean that he is any worse than the well-fed citizen who has a job and doesn't feel the impulse to steal.

It is understandable that private letters should be read in court in the course of a trial. Why they should, in advance of the trial, be produced in the public prints and stuck under the eyes and nose of the public, is not so clear.

A mess of letters marks the progress of the Obchain case. The question at issue is not whether the woman exchanged letters with the man later murdered, but whether she connived at his murder.

It is decided by a New York court that the Russian soviet could be sued as a corporation.

Some wise person has recorded the belief that one may sue a beggar and catch a louse. This does not stimulate the desire to sue a beggar.

The Rev. John Roach Straton, a preacher much favored by the yellow press, has started a fight against teaching the theory of evolution in the public schools of New York. This places him in the intellectual class with Brother Jasper, who declared "do sin do move." It makes him blood brother to Voliva, advocate of mundane flatness.

Straton seems to think that belief in evolution involves belief in the monkeyhood of man.

It does not. The spectacle of Straton in activity tends to establish such belief, however.

One excuse given for the tendency to steal is that owners of automobiles leave their machines accessible and unguarded. This is a poor excuse.

Out on the cattle ranges of Colorado cabins never used to be locked. Owners left them for days at a time with their food supplies and chattels. Guns stood in the corner. Valuable skins were on the wall. Saddles were on pegs, with hair bridges of much value.

Strangers entered, helped themselves to food, as was the law of the range, but took nothing else. They never thought of the excuse that is advanced by the automobile thieves.

Moreover a drifter from the outside came by one day and stole a calf. The honest cattlemen hanged him by the light of the evening moon.

Maybe there are ways of prompting honesty.

Los Angeles police have shot another burglar. They seem to be learning to shoot quite well.

It is too bad that a burglar should deserve shooting, but since he does, it would be an error to miss him.

Now they have turned up a "powerful ring of narcotic peddlers directed by a beautiful woman."

It is very common to turn up this sort of a ring on paper, and on each occasion any reporter who is half-way enterprising, throws in a beautiful woman for good measure.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

One of the favorite maxims of Postmaster General Will Hays is that "things do not happen. They are made to happen."

It has a lovely, eloquent sound—a good deal like Smiles on Self Help—and no one would dare say it isn't true, although nine out of ten of us do not believe that sort of thing at all. But, after all, there may be something in it. There's one thing mighty sure:

"Some things may be made to happen if you work at it hard enough."

Magdalena May is a young mulatto girl. Her color isn't quite to my taste—it's too much like a new saddle—but otherwise Magdalena May would pass for a good looking girl. She has intelligence, large, soft black eyes, a particularly pleasing voice and ambition. Magdalena May wants to be an artist. Not the sort of an artist who sits around in the front room painting on china, which then breaks in the kiln, but the sort of an artist who exhibits in large salons.

"You must study," said the teacher to whom she confided this ambition.

That was a good deal as though some one should say to me that I ought to make a new watch. Magdalena May's father is a whitewasher. Her mother was one of the best laundresses in our town until rheumatism twisted her knuckles. The family bankroll was not stretchable to the desired point. The girl might have been sent to an art teacher in the village for a term or two, but that would be all. Evidently her future was up to Magdalena May.

So she flew at it. She began to peddle hot rolls, cakes, cookies and home-made bread to the neighbors. They were the best I ever tasted. She carried them in a basket first. Then she got a pony cart and a dun-colored urchin in gilt buttons. Now she has an establishment, all plate glass and French coloring, and not one in a thousand of her customers knows that Magdalena May is just a young colored woman who wants to paint.

Her letters from Paris are interesting. Her teachers say she has a talent, at least. It is up to Magdalena May to work that talent into genius. I'm betting on Mademoiselle May.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

Japan has water power developed to the extent of 1,000,000 horsepower and India, her closest rival in Asia, has only 150,000 horsepower.

Only from one-half to three-quarters of a live stock animal can be turned into edible marketable meat.

Data compiled by the American engineering council show that duration of life in America has been expanded by five years since 1909.

It has been estimated that at the present rate of consumption the green plants of the world would exhaust the air of carbon dioxide in about 30 years if it were not constantly being replaced.

Many steamship companies have installed disinfecting plants at European ports to disinfect immigrants coming to this country.

A new lighthouse structure now at Fairport, Ohio, on Lake Erie, was constructed on shore and transported 147 miles to its location at a saving of $10,000.

STUNNING FROCK AND GOWN THAT WERE GREATLY ADMIRED IN NEW YORK SHOPS

Here are two stunning gowns displayed recently in fashionable New York shops. At the left is shown a pale orchid velvet frock which is embroidered in rose and mauve shades. The other gown is of lustrous metallic cloth of delicate peach tones. It has self embroidered motifs at the skirt hem to accentuate the uneven lines.

The Once Over

OLD FACES MADE AS GOOD AS NEW

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Her eyes are like two glowing coals.
Her cheeks are like the clover;
In fact, she'd be good looking if
Her face could be done over!

Is your face satisfactory? Not only to yourself, but to others who have to stand for it? If not, why not?

There no longer is any excuse for a woman struggling through life with a second or third-class face. Just because a lady was out of luck when nature was distributing faces is no reason why she should stick to the one she drew.

If your face isn't all that you'd have it, turn it in and get a new one. Thanks to Plastic Surgery, the movement for the Reconstruction of Devastated Faces is going forward by leaps and bounds.

You'd be surprised to know how many prominent women have turned in their faces for alterations and repairs this season.

Off with the old face and on with the new, as the saying goes.

Plastic surgeons are springing up thicker than chiropractors (if it is possible for any one to be thicker than a chiropractor). If your face isn't all that it has been cracked up to be let a plastic surgeon crack it up along new lines.

There is nothing a plastic surgeon can't do to a face... whether it deserves it or not. He will renovate, repair, remodel, reconstruct, alter, or launder them as desired.

Faces called for and returned! All faces lost in transit will be replaced by something just as good!

The plastic surgeon specializes

In taking up the slack places, removing bagginess under the eyes, and taking the overhang away from chins. He cuts away the superfluous skin, thus allowing the face to slip back into its normal position.

Spare the knife and spoil the face is his slogan.

He makes one chin grow where two have grown before.

Of course, great judgment is required. The plastic surgeon is frequently called upon to decide whether, in justice to the patient, it wouldn't be better to remodel the face or just destroy it.

Then, too, there are some faces it is impossible to damage. Many a face would look better off than on.

But assuming a face is in fair condition, the plastic surgeon must exercise great care. It is a horrifying experience for a lady to approve plans for a new face, award the contract, undergo the reconstruction, and then find that her face is worse than it was originally. If such a thing is possible.

Another annoying experience is to visit the plastic surgeon during the rush hour and discover that evening that you have part of Mrs. Jones' face and she has part of yours.

A small boy, aged four, had just communicated the fact to his uncle that he had started on his school career. "Indeed," said his uncle, "why, you must be the youngest there."

"Oh, no," answered the youngster in a very lofty manner, "there's an automobile runs on gas, but you're not an automobile."

Play the Game

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

A clerk in the office of a manufacturing concern writes to remind me that if, as I recently emphasized, there are many employees who fail to play fair with their employers, there also are many employers anything but fair in their treatment of their employees.

His own employer, he makes very plain, must be placed in this category. He speaks of forced overwork in inventory-taking without any extra compensation, of surly watchfulness for minor errors of omission and commission.

"Do you blame our office force," he demands, "for becoming 'a clock-watching force,' as you express it? Or do you expect employees to 'put their hearts into their work' when they are treated in such a shabby fashion?"

Undeniably the employer is singularly short-sighted who uses the whip of coercion, the spur of force, in place of the tonic of praise and reward in his management of his employees.

He forgets, just as is forgotten by all employees who deliberately underwork and nourish class hatred for their employers, that like breeds like. He forgets also that the bitterness which his mismanagement tends to engender must of itself impair the working efficiency of his employees.

It is quite conceivable that the nagging to which he habitually subjects them may have as ultimate effect such an impairment of efficiency that the stability of his business will be endangered. More than one employer has "grouched" himself into bankruptcy.

Nevertheless, my advice to my clerk-correspondent would be to endeavor to fight down the angry feelings that now possess him, if only because of their possible disastrous effects on his ability as a worker. Any lessening by them of his working power would be to his own injury as well as the injury of the employer he dislikes.

If it is possible for him to find a place with some fairer employer, by all means let him do so. And he would be foolish not to keep his eyes open for a chance to make a change.

But meanwhile he should continue to play the game of business life with all his might and main. He would do grave hurt to himself to "let down" to yield to any desire for "getting even."

And if, resisting the mind-disturbing influence that emanates from the unfair employer, all his fellow-workers were similarly to continue to give their best, it even is possible that a beneficent change might come over the character of the man for whom they work.

Certainly, at all events, he would have less opportunity to call them curtly to account. As such opportunity diminished, appreciation of the value of praise and reward might grow upon him.

Nothing, in any case, is to be gained by the employees through revenge and sabotage. Always revenge and sabotage are boomerangs that miss their mark and fly back to the wounding of those who use them. Human experience through the ages gives proof of this.

CALIFORNIA AUTOS ARE INCREASING

Possibility State May Lead Country in Number of Owners

When all is said and done—and the final returns are in—it looks as though California is going to come pretty near leading America in the number of autos owned.

Officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California who have been assisting motorists to secure their license plates are of the opinion that this state has moved up at least one notch and possibly two in the automotive activity of America.

At the end of 1921 California was fourth in the list, headed by New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, in the order named. It is possible that California may now be third or even second, says the Auto Club.

More than 700,000 license plates have already been issued by the Motor Vehicle Department, and at the end of last year the nearest competing state boasted only 744,000 automobiles. It is considered possible by local authorities that the total registration, before closing in March, may reach more than 750,000 cars.

Whatever the final registration does show, the fact remains that California is the most active motoring state in the Union. This is vouched for by the touring bureau experts of the Auto Club, who visit annually every other section of the United States.

And in addition, this particular part of California, meaning the southern section, is more actively in the public eye of the motoring world than any other bit of America. Testimony of eastern visitors pouring in here at this time indicates this fact.

Taking it by and large, everything considered, reports of motoring depression have a roseate hue when they reach the far west and sink to rest in the setting sun of the Pacific, points out the Auto Club.

LA CRESCENTA NEWS AND NOTES

LA CRESCENTA, Feb. 18.—The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association was held at the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. S. B. Young, presiding. Miss E. Jenkins of Los Angeles gave a most interesting talk on the foundation of parent-teachers' associations and woman's work. Wednesday was also the 25th anniversary of the parent-teachers' association. Mrs. Mandis' room received a cake the gift of the president, Mrs. Young, for having the largest number of mothers present.

The Community church is planning an interesting entertainment for next Wednesday evening, February 22. Members of the Glendale Madrigal club will give the program, which will be colonial and in costume. The proceeds is for the building fund of the community church.

Mrs. Jennie McCreary of Erie, Penn., who has been the houseguest of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Miller for the past two months, left for her home Tuesday. She was accompanied back east by her brother.

I. Goldberg of Michigan avenue, left Tuesday for New York where he will be the guest of his mother.

The regular monthly dance of the La Crescenta Woman's club will be given Saturday evening at the school auditorium. Fletcher's orchestra of Pasadena will furnish the music.

B. R. and H. L. Carpenter and their families of Los Angeles were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, Tuesday.

A big man eventually gets out of a little job, but a little man seldom gets into a big job unless he inherits it.

ADDED SERVICE ON SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Inauguration of through parlor car service between Los Angeles and Del Monte on the Shore Line limited, effective February 25, has been announced by Chas. S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific company. Increase of tourist travel from Southern California to Del Monte explains the addition of this extra equipment.

NEBRASKANS PICNIC

All who ever lived in Nebraska are called to meet under the auspices of the Nebraska Association of Southern California for the great annual picnic reunion, all day, Saturday, February 25th, 1922 in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends. We will have county registers and headquarters so you can find the old neighbors even with ten thousand present.

There will be a brief program opening about 2 o'clock, but the main purpose is a good time. Col. R. W. Richardson, the president, will preside. We want to see all the tourists and visitors from the old home. Bring your basket well filled. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the souvenir badges. Each one who learns of this is asked to pass the word along. Further information may be had of C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Federation of State Societies, office in the Continental National bank, Main and Ninth streets; phone 10261, or of the president, Main 942.

Pre-Opening Sale SEVENTH UNIT at FAIRVIEW

Large Lots as Low as

$385

Up to $855—None Higher

A cash down payment as low as $25 and monthly payments from $10 to $15 per month will secure your lot in this beautiful tract.

We have already placed on the market and sold six units or nearly 400 lots, one after another, just as fast as we could get them ready and this unit is the choicest property we have yet offered.

Fairview is located on a beautiful slope in the famous Northwest section of Glendale, one block from the P. E. car line and about 1/2 mile from the magnificent estate of L. C. Brand.

For desirability, Fairview lots must not be confused with any other subdivision. They are not low, or damp—they have good drainage, rich sandy loam soil, close to the new Grandview School, stores, churches, etc., and yet priced so low they will astonish you for this class of property. No district or values like this in all Glendale. Come out and see for yourself.

Don't waste your money paying rent; buy a lot, put up a temporary home, 50 feet back from the street, and live in it at once.

A great development is taking place at Fairview. Over sixty homes have been built by our purchasers and lots in the first unit are already selling for $200 more than they cost a few months ago.

Neighboring lots are being sold at from $825 to $1450, but we do not believe in asking the highest price for this beautiful property; we want our purchasers to make money and it is a source of great satisfaction to us that resales in our earlier units are showing handsome profits in so short a time.

There are only 56 lots in this seventh unit and people who know the exceptional values we offer are waiting for this announcement. Don't delay. Come out today or come out Sunday, if you can't before.

Drive out West Broadway and San Fernando road to Vine Avenue; then one block up to tract headquarters at Vine Avenue and Fourth Street. Our cars will leave 203 West Broadway at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, and 2 o'clock p. m.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

IT'S NOT NICE TO BE STARED AT.

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"What did your great grandmother see—or think she saw?" asked Ripple Beaver. She was simply breathless over the whole tale of the Big Flood as Dr. Muskrat was telling it. For you remember she had never heard anything in all her life except the history of the little Secret Pond where she and Chips were born. And she hadn't shared Chip's experiences. "She saw—or she thought she saw—in the middle of the sea that hadn't a speck on it the last time she looked around, a small, dark island," said Dr. Muskrat with a humorous nod. "And her mate saw it, too. 'It is—it is—land!' he cried. 'Land! And we're floating nearer and nearer all the time. How grand! It might have a sprig of tasty sorrel growing on it—sorrel likes the rain. Or a chickweed salad, or water-cress,' he began, getting hungrier and hungrier over the notion.

"No," she answered wisely, "don't get your hopes up. I can't have a sprig of green, but it might have an angelfish or a snail to put a taste of filling inside our furtill something better floats along."

"But the joke was on both of them. This wasn't land. It was old Pluke-Splasher the Whale. He had just come up from scrapping his sides on some stony mountain peaks which pricked near the top of the water. And they weren't floating any nearer to him—he was swimming up to have a look at the first thing he'd seen since he founced off from the Ark, 'cause Shem had wanted to lasso him. It was their little round, crumpled thorn-tree the storm had been using for a plaything. Only that whale was so tremendous big they couldn't see his toed-out tail tickling up the ripples behind him. "Closer, and closer, and closer, he came. They scrambled up to the topmost branch of their tree. But just as he was nearly close enough they caught sight of his curious eye, staring right at them. Great Jumping Bullfrogs, but that was enough to scare any one!

"It wasn't a big eye, not considering the size of him. The black in the middle of it was no larger than a mouse hole. You wouldn't think it could be an eye at all because whales wear them all off by their lungs in the sides of their heads without a nose or a mouth or an ear to keep them company. But my ancestors knew it must be because it blinked at them. It squinted up into a crooked slit with eyelashes as big as the spike on a burrush sticking out all 'round it."

Next Story: THE SMILE OF A WHALE.

One secret of a long life is to forget injuries and remember favors.

The man who boasts that he is "self-made" is not half finished.

TEXAS PROFESSOR TO UNIVERSITY

Junior High School problems which are absorbing the attention of educators and laymen all over the country will be analyzed and discussed by Professor Henderson of the University of Texas at the coming Summer session. Professor Henderson will be remembered as an inspiring lecturer by those who were fortunate enough to attend his courses last summer.

He has been teacher, principal, and Superintendent of Public Schools in Tyler, Texas, and Professor of Education in various colleges. For the past seven years, Professor Henderson has had charge of Secondary Education in the University of Texas.

Information regarding the work offered, issued upon request from 331 Pacific Finance Building, Sixth and Olive streets, Los Angeles. Phone Pico 3621.

A boy used to be started off to college accompanied by the prayers of his family; now he is started off accompanied by a 60-mile-an-hour roadster.

DAYS OF '49 TO BE CELEBRATED

Depicting the early days of California with its famous old mining camps of "Hangtown," "Shes Gulch," "Whiskey Diggings," "You Bet," and others with equally odd names derived from incidents born of the gold-rush hysteria, a "Days of '49" celebration will be held in Sacramento May 23 to 28.

Features of the celebration will be floats and pageants representing the discovery of gold at Sutter Fort; the gold rush with its picturesque prairie schooners, plodding ox teams, the bizarre dance halls and events having to do with the early history of California.

Two hundred and fifty Indians from the Klamath Falls Indian Reservation will be in Sacramento for the week and will erect their own Indian village after the manner of those used in the early days.

Forty-niners and other old citizens of Sacramento are gathering material and relics that were actually a part of its history, such as prairie schooners, ox-carts, stage coaches, gold scales, long-toms,

STOCKMEN'S WEEK AT UNIVERSITY

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 18.—The third annual Stockmen's Week will be held at the University of California Farm School at Davis from February 20 to February 24, inclusive, according to an announcement of the college of agriculture.

Meetings of the California Hog Breeders' Association and the California Woolgrowers' Association will also take place during the week at the Farm. Part of the program is an inspection of the equipment at the Davis school.

muskets, miners' equipment, gambling outfits, and countless other articles linked with the romantic period of the state.

In order that tourists from the East may attend this commemoration the Southern Pacific company will put its west-bound tourist excursion rates in effect May 15, instead of the usual effective date of June 1.

If he feels flattered at being named on committees, he's still young.

SMITH SHOE STORE IS OPENING TODAY

The formal opening of the new Smith shoe store, 312 East Broadway, will take place today. Joseph Smith, proprietor of this establishment, came to Glendale about three months ago. He came here for a rest, but has been so completely won over by the charms and business possibilities of this city that he finally decided to open a shoe store of his own.

This new shoe store will handle the Star Brand shoes exclusively. Mr. Wilson was formerly connected with one of the factories of the International Shoe Company, the largest in the world, near St. Louis, and it is on account of knowing that the Star shoe is made correctly that he decided to handle that brand exclusively. Mr. A. G. Smith, father of the proprietor of this new Glendale store, is the manager of one of the forty factories operated by this company.

The new store will make a specialty of children's shoes, although a full line of men's and women's shoes will also be carried.

BABY CARRIAGE RULES STREETS

SAN-FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Because it was represented by women wheeling baby carriages three abreast along sidewalks of Clement street, in the Richmond district of San Francisco, that narrowing the sidewalks would mean that mothers would have to leave their babies at home when they shopped, the lighting committee of the board of supervisors has abandoned temporarily a proposed measure to widen the streets by cutting down the width of the walks. Merchants of the district complained that it would ruin business along the street. Proving that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the Richmond district.

"I don't know what I'm going to make of that son of mine," complained the self-made business man.

"Maybe your son hasn't found himself yet," said a friend. "Isn't he gifted in any way?"

"Gifted? I should say he is! He ain't got a thing that wasn't given to him!"

IRISH REPUBLIC REORGANIZES ITS POLICE FORCE

Period of Transition Followed by Outbreak of Banditry

DUBLIN, Feb. 18.—An epidemic of lawlessness—kidnapping, automobile thefts and bank and highway robbery—is hastening reorganization of the Irish Republican police, destined to become the national police of the Free State.

The transitional stage of government in Ireland has left the country almost at the mercy of thieves. The old Royal Irish constabulary is about to be disestablished. The Republican police—young, untrained volunteers—are not yet capable of policing the country properly, and authorities are making every effort to organize them.

Before and even during the truce, clashes between Constabulary and Republican police were frequent—mostly disputes as to what prisoner belonged to whom. Now they are co-operating, but one force is moribund and the other immature. Officials of Dail Eireann and the new provisional government hope soon to have the Republican police uniformed and under efficient heads, when they promise a cessation of the crimes that are filling all Irish newspapers.

There are nearly three thousand former members of the Royal Irish Constabulary who resigned or were dismissed during the war because of their sympathy to the revolutionary government. Nearly all of them have applied for posts in the state—police as ordinary members or instructors. Many of them are men of long service, and all of them were well-trained under the strict discipline of the old force.

Uniforms of the new force will be included on the big vaudeville bill that is scheduled to open at the Glendale theatre, February 18.

Burdell and Burdell, who are billed as "That Comedy Pair in Mixology," will contribute no end of hearty laughter for their offering is new and funny. The Overton Trio describe themselves as "harmony and comedy singers." Their singing has won them much popularity everywhere.

Browning and Moore in "Not So Ordinary" will also contribute "singing, talking and dancing" that are distinct and different and exceedingly pleasing. Arnold and Taylor promise a comedy skit that is heralded as a gem of its kind. It is entitled "Put Out." These two artists are real comedians and have left a trail of laughter wherever they have appeared. Mad Miller & Co. in an original novelty that might be described as a sensational escape act and which is entitled "The Crazy Man" will conclude the program.

Buck Jones Pleases
Buck Jones, the William Fox star, who has set a pace in western film drama, will be as daring as ever as the Glendale theatre tonight, where he appears in his latest picture, "Bar Nothin'." The action does not lag for a moment. Jack Strumwasser collaborated with Clyde C. Westover in the writing of the story.

Who, trim and natty and so neat,
From stylish bonnet to trim feet,
Goes tripping lightly down the street?
Grandmother.

Who wears the chic and modish gown
Done by the maker of renown,
As smart as any lass in town?
Grandmother.

Who swings her club and calls out: "Fore!"
And drives the ball a-skimming o'er
The course and beats your own best score?
Grandmother.

Who makes you wonder which is she
And which her daughter when you see
Them walking onward to the tee?
Grandmother.

Who after lunch and bridge and tea
And club and a new play to see
Is little, bright-eyed, merry me?
Grandmother.

Oh, Ponce de Leon, you should be
Upon the side lines here with me
And watch the dancing floor and see
Grandmother!

BIG VAUDEVILLE BILL AT GLENDALE

MASON AGENTS BUY SERVICE STATION

Lyman & Lund, proprietors of the tire and accessory store at 143 South Brand boulevard, have just purchased the Kenworthy Service Station at 301 East Broadway and will continue its operation as usual.

The firm is agent in Glendale for the celebrated Mason tires, which are proving so popular. These tires are making a real name for themselves in Glendale and many local people are finding that they are standing up in the fullest sense of the word.

WOMAN MAYOR MOPS UP WET TOWNSHIP

Dr. Amy Kaukonen, of Fairport, O., Tells How She Worked

FAIRPORT, O., Feb. 21.—(United Press).—This is the inside story of how a pretty young girl personally drove the bootleggers out of Fairport, noted as an international rum-smuggling center between the United States and Canada.

It was told to the United Press by Dr. Amy Kaukonen, youngest woman mayor in America. "The town of Fairport has been for some time a wide open one. Last November the citizens decided things had gone entirely too far, so they promised to elect me mayor providing I would pledge to clean out the bootleggers and gamblers.

"The bootleggers of Fairport had a carefully worked out plan to escape detention. Most of the dives had an eight-hour shift of look-outs or watchmen. A suspicious looking stranger came into sight, the look-out gave a signal, a bell rang, the light blinked, and the hooch was rushed to a secret hiding place. Sometimes during a raid the bootleggers disrupted the power plant, putting out every light in Fairport. That worked for a while, but we soon caught onto their system.

"Much of the booze was brought across from Canada in airplanes. Now, however, the airplanes do not stop in Fairport.

"Some of the caches of the bootleggers were amazing clever. A fruit store proprietor sold bananas at 75 cents apiece. Inserted in a scooped out niche in this high-priced variety was a small bottle containing one drink of hooch.

"Needless to say this little fruit stand did a land office business. Those who couldn't afford hooch-bananas were accommodated with lemon extract, lightening drops, hard cider and d-g-o-red.

"We have the bootleggers on the run, as the saying goes, but we won't stop now until every bit of hooch in Fairport is confiscated."

Changes in Service
The following moves are indicated by the records of the public service department:

E. H. Schenkel from 915 East Orange Grove to 1750 Los Lomas, Mr. Griffith from 321 Euclid street to Pasadena, A. Morgan from 1142 Campbell to Box 7, R. F. D. No. 4, Glendale, H. Ashton from 203 West Chestnut street to 355 West Oak, Mrs. E. B. Anderson from 710 1/2 South Glendale avenue, F. P. Southworth from 342 West Broadway to 741 South Adams, D. W. Griffiths to 1405 South San Fernando road, C. M. Anderson to 821 East Orange Grove avenue, W. T. Blanchard to 3230 East Harvard, R. J. Long to 1123 1/2 East Wilson, Olie Thorson to 1425 South Central, J. M. Slaughter to 321 West Euclid.

Lighting meters were installed for W. R. Ferns at 325 East Elk, M. E. Taylor, 405 East Lomita; John Boerges at 520 Vine, J. R. Root at 425 West Lomita; Mrs. Mary F. Conway, 223 1/2 South Orange; Fred A. Tarr, 221 South Orange, E. Harrington, 1635 Don Carlos.

Two friends reached the railroad station very late one night—or, rather, early one morning—only to find that one of them had missed his last train home.

The other, who lived in Evans-ton, was more fortunate, and insisted upon taking his companion along with him.

"You mustn't mind a walk, old chap," he said, as they left the station. "My house is a good mile away."

"Lead on!" said his friend, and they footed it together.

It was a pouring wet night, and they did the first three-quarters of the way in silence.

Suddenly the host halted. "What's up, old chap?" asked his companion in weary surprise.

"Up?" retorted the other. "It's all up! I forgot—we moved to Oak Park yesterday!"

If you are easily flattered you won't lack for flattery.
